ADDITIONAL REGULATIONS

The Visitor of the Event is required to comply with the regulations, house rules, and/or any amendments thereof, as well as the instructions of the Organization, the transport provider operating the shuttle service, the parking lot operator, the venue operators, security personnel, fire department, police, and other authorized officials.

In case of violation of any rule or prohibition, the Visitor will be immediately removed by security personnel.

For each Event, specific rules may apply to the event grounds or location, which will be made known on-site. Where possible, such rules will also be communicated in advance on the Website of the respective Organizer.

CANCELLATION OR RESCHEDULING IN CASE OF FORCE MAJEURE

In the event of force majeure in the broadest sense of the word—including but not limited to illness and/or cancellation of the artist(s), strikes, terrorist threats, a cancellation order by the authorities, fire, (adverse) weather conditions, etc.—the Organization reserves the right to reschedule the Event to a different date or location, or to cancel the Event.

The Organization is not liable for damages resulting from cancellation or rescheduling as mentioned above. If the Event is rescheduled or canceled as described, the Organization will make this known in the manner it deems appropriate, including by announcing the applicable refund terms on the Website. Only in the case of a complete cancellation will the Organization issue a new ticket for the next edition or refund the ticket fees—excluding service costs and any incurred travel and accommodation expenses—upon request of the Visitor. This applies only if the ticket was purchased directly from the Organization's authorized (pre-)sale outlets and not if it was purchased through an (Organization-authorized) third-party sales platform, such as an online secondary ticket marketplace.

(Partial) refunds will only be processed within a reasonable period after the date of the canceled Event. The Visitor must present a valid, undamaged Ticket, which also proves that it was purchased directly by the Visitor. Refunds will be processed in the manner and through the channels announced by the Organization (or the party handling ticket payments).

If the Event must be canceled due to or in connection with force majeure after it has already started, the Organization will only be obliged to refund a portion of the Ticket price, as determined by the Organization, which the Visitor paid through the official (pre-)sales outlet. Service fees and/or other damages will not be reimbursed. Additionally, the Visitor cannot claim (substitute) access to another event.

If the Event is rescheduled by the Organization due to force majeure, the Ticket will remain valid for the new date on which the Event will take place.

IMAGE AND AUDIO RECORDINGS

The artists and/or the Organization have the right to create (or have created) image and/or audio recordings of the Event and its Visitors and to reproduce and/or publicly distribute these recordings in any form and by any means.

By obtaining a Ticket for the Event and/or by entering the Event venue, the Visitor unconditionally grants permission for the creation of such recordings, as well as for their editing, publication, and commercial use, in the broadest sense of the word, without the Organizer or any affiliated company being liable to pay any compensation to the Visitor.

The Visitor hereby irrevocably waives any rights or interests they may have in the aforementioned recordings. To the extent that the Visitor holds any neighboring rights, copyright, and/or portrait rights in these recordings, they hereby unconditionally transfer these rights to the Organizer without any limitations and irrevocably waive any moral rights or claims related to them. If this transfer is not legally valid in advance, the Visitor is obligated, upon the Organizer's first request, to provide the necessary written consent and/or sign a transfer agreement to ensure that the aforementioned rights are assigned free of charge to the Organizer and/or any affiliated company.
